NEW QUESTION: 2

End point security is an information security concept that assumes that each device (end point) is responsible for its own security. Which of the following tools are examples of end point security software?

Each correct answer represents a complete solution. Choose all that apply.

- A. Grayware
- B. Anti-spyware
- C. Anti-virus
- D. Spam filters
- E. Anti-malware

Answer: B,C,D,E

Explanation:

End point security is an information security concept that assumes that each device (end point) is responsible for its own security. The examples of end point security software are:

Anti-malware

Anti-virus

Anti-spyware

Spam filters

Anti-malware programs can combat malware by providing real time protection against the installation of malware software on a computer. This type of protection works in the same way as that of antivirus protection. Anti-malware software scans all incoming network data for malware software and blocks any threats it comes across.

Anti-malware software programs can be used for detection and removal of malware software that has already been installed in a computer system. This type of anti-malware software scans the contents of the Windows registry, operating system files, and installed programs on a computer and will provide a list of any threats found.

Anti-Virus software is used to prevent, detect, and remove malware, including computer viruses, worms, and trojan horses. Such programs may also prevent and remove adware, spyware, and other forms of malware.

Anti-Virus software is a class of program that searches your hard drive, floppy drive, and pen drive for any known or potential viruses. The market for this kind of program has expanded because of Internet growth and the increasing use of the Internet by businesses concerned about protecting their computer assets.

Popular Anti-Virus packages are as follows:

Bit Defender Anti-Virus

McAfee Virus Scan

Kaspersky Anti-Virus

F-Secure Anti-Virus

Symantec Norton Anti-Virus

Panda Titanium Anti-Virus

Avira Anti-Virus

Avast Anti-Virus

Trend Micro Anti-Virus

Grisoft AVG Anti-Virus

ESET Nod32 Anti-Virus

Webroot Anti-Virus

Quick Heal Anti-Virus

eTrust EZ Anti-Virus

ZoneAlarm Anti-Virus

Anti-spyware is software that is designed to protect a computer against malware, adware, spyware, rogware, etc. It is quite different from antivirus software because it does not specialize in viruses. Protection against spyware helps to defend against bugs that can send out unauthorized information about victim, steal confidential information, slow down Internet connection, install unwanted programs on the computer, etc.

Spam filters are utilities that stop spam (unsolicited) mails from reaching users. Spam filters are available as modules or components for mail servers (both incoming and outgoing).

Administrators can also install spam and malware-scanning modules on firewalls and proxy servers. Administrators should opt for tools that place suspect messages in a special folder or queue that enables users to double-check the automated filters.

Answer option A is incorrect. Grayware refers to applications or files that are not classified as viruses or trojan horse programs, but can still negatively affect the performance of the computers on your network and introduce significant security risks to your organization. Often grayware performs a variety of undesired actions such as irritating users with pop-up windows, tracking user habits and unnecessarily exposing computer vulnerabilities to attack.
