NEW QUESTION: 1

A company is planning the migration of several lab environments used for software testing. An assortment of custom tooling is used to manage the test runs for each lab. The labs use immutable infrastructure for the software test runs, and the results are stored in a highly available SQL database cluster. Although completely rewriting the custom tooling is out of scope for the migration project, the company would like to optimize workloads during the migration.

Which application migration strategy meets this requirement?

- A. Retire
- B. Re-platform
- C. Re-factor/re-architect
- D. Re-host

Answer: B

Explanation:

A: You cannot optimize workloads if you lift and shift.

C: You cannot modify the custom tooling.

D: This is not even an option.

Here you might make a few cloud (or other) optimizations in order to achieve some tangible benefit, but you aren't otherwise changing the core architecture of the application.

NEW QUESTION: 3

You have been contracted by a local e-commerce company to assist with enhancing their online shopping application. The application is currently deployed in a single Oracle Cloud Infrastructure (OCI) region. The application utilizes a public load balancer, application servers in a private subnet and a database in a separate, private subnet.

The company would like to deploy another set of similar Infrastructure in a different OCI region that will act as standby site. In the event of a failure at the primary site, all customers should be routed to the failover site automatically.

After deploying the additional infrastructure within the second region, how should you configure automated failover requirements?

A. Create a load balancer policy in the Traffic Management service. Configure one answer for each site. Set the answer for the primary site with a weight of 10 and the answer for the secondary site with a weight of 100.

B. Deploy a new load balancer in the primary region. Create one backend set for the primary application servers and a second backend set for the standby application servers. Create a listener for the primary backend set with a timeout of 3 minutes. Create a listener for the secondary backend set with a timeout of 10 minutes.

C. Create a new A record in DNS that points to the public load balancer at the secondary site. Create a CNAME for the sub-domain failover that will resolve to the new A record. Inform customers to prepend the website URL with failover if the primary site is unavailable.

D. Create a failover policy in the Traffic Management service. Set the IP address of the public load balancer for the primary site in answer pool 1. Set the IP address of the public load balancer for the secondary site in answer pool 2. Define a health check to monitor both sites.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

You can leverage Traffic Management Steering Policies to provide automated failover between primary and secondary servers.
